Placed for Trial in

HEPBURN ASK WRIGHT'S
RULING BE REVOKED

OKMULGEE, Nov. 17.—A motion to set aside District Judge Lucian B. Wright's ruling yesterday granting a change of venue in the case of Gov. J. B. Robertson and sending it to Ada, Pontotoc county, for trial, is being prepared today by County Attorney James Hepburn for presentation Monday morning. County Attorney Hepburn said that his motion would be lengthy. Not only will he ask for revocation of the order by Judge Wright, but he will set out that he believes he was disqualified from the state to have heard the motion for a change of venue.

The tangled web of justice in the case of Governor J. B. Robertson, high executive of the state of Oklahoma, charged with accepting a bribe in connection with the failure of the Bank of Commerce of Okmulgee, will be unraveled at Ada, it was learned today when papers in the case were filed in district court here.

Judge Lucian B. Wright, acting in the absence of Judge Mark L. Bozarth of Okmulgee, who was disqualified to hear the case, yesterday granted Governor Robertson's petition for a change of venue. The petition was granted after hearing the argument of Robertson's attorneys. Wright interrupted attorneys for Robertson after an hour and fifteen minutes hearing and declared: "I am familiar with most of the allegations and now grant a change of venue in the case of the State vs. J. B. A. Robertson."

No information as to the date of the hearing could be obtained from district court offices at a late hour Friday, although it is reported that the case will be heard here November 22.

As far as could be learned from local court officials no man has been designated as yet to sit in the hearing of the Robertson case. Press reports announced today that Judge Thomas A. Edwards had been named by John B. Harrison, chief justice of the State Supreme court, to sit in the case.

Much Interest in Case
The docketing of the case of Governor J. B. A. Robertson for trial in Pontotoc county brings the limelight of possibly the most discussed case in the annals of state history to Ada.

General Charles McPherson, of Durant, arrived in the city today in Robertson's interest and will probably remain here until disposition of the case. Papers in the case were filed in court here by McPherson.

History in the case dates back to March 21, 1922, when indictment was filed following the action of the grand jury at Okmulgee.

The finding of the grand jury followed with the allegations against Robertson and Fred C. Dennis, state bank examiner at that time, that they had accepted bribes aggregating $25,000 from the Bank of Commerce of Okmulgee, after it was found that the bank was insolvent, after which state funds totalling $150,000 were deposited in the bank.

It was believed the Tiger would do likewise. Not so. He asserted stoutly that slanting decks meant nothing to him. The captain expected to reach quinine late tonight and dock early tomorrow.

SHARP SUCCEUMBS AFTER ILLNESS

Former U. S. Ambassador to France Dies at Ohio Home.

(By the Associated Press)
ELYRIA, Ohio, Nov. 17.—William Graves Sharp, former ambassador to France, died at his home here shortly before noon today. Mr. Sharp had been ill for several days. Mr. Sharp was 63 years old, spent several months in Europe last summer in the interest of his health and according to friends had not been very well since.

All of the five Sharp children were summoned to his bedside late yesterday when his condition became serious. Mr. Sharp was American ambassador to France five years, serving in Paris during the world war. He resigned his post about a year after the armistice was signed. Mr. Sharp's condition became worse this morning and a Cleveland specialist was summoned for consultation by attending physicians. Death came an hour later, however.

Mr. Sharp was born in Mt. Gilead, Ohio. His parents were George and Mahala Graves Sharp. His childhood was spent in Mt. Gilead.

When he became of school age Sharp moved to Elyria with his grandparents and entered the public schools here. After he was graduated from high school he decided to take up law and entered the University of Michigan. In 1881 he was graduated from the law department of that institution and was admitted to the bar of Ohio.

Turn British Politics Now Pleasing All

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Gratification is expressed by most of the morning newspapers at the result of the parliamentary election. This was of course to be expected from the conservative press, in view of the returns of the conservative majority, but some of the liberal newspapers also find certain grounds for satisfaction, or at least compensation. They recognize that the outcome means a return to party government and displaces all they most disliked in the survival of the coalition long after the coalition dissolution was due. Several of the newspapers derive satisfaction from the fact that the conservative majority is not overwhelmingly large, and this enables the opposition to exercise whole-some check upon the predominate party.

STATE BAPTISTS TO CONVENE HERE

Ada Unanimously Accepted as Convention Center for Next Year.

Baptists of the state will assemble in Ada in 1923 for their annual general assembly.

This decision was handed out at the close of yesterday's assembly at Altus, when Ada was unanimously accepted as the next meeting place of state Baptists.

Tulsa, Enid and others, contending for the honor of holding the convention, went down in defeat before Ada's barrage of invitations from business men of Ada, according to information received from C. C. Morris, local pastor, attending the convention.

Business men of the city filed 50 telegrams to the convention center at regular intervals during the day urging that state Baptists use Ada for the convention center.

The Ada chamber of commerce took the lead in urging Baptists to meet here. A complete canvass of the city was taken and business men urged to send telegrams to the convention center.

Ada based her claims for the holding the convention here on the prospects of her $110,000 convention hall now under construction.

Reverend C. C. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church here, was active in interest of bringing the convention here.

CLEMENCEAU AGAIN DESERTS SECLUSION

(By the Associated Press)

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP PARIS, En Route to New York, Nov. 17.—(By Wire to the Associated Press).—Georges Clemenceau again came out of the seclusion he has maintained on his voyage to America by appearing at the ship's deck yesterday and autographed photographs taken on board the ship which sold for several hundred francs.

It was the first time "The Tiger" had appeared after luncheon since leaving shore, and most of the passengers were in the concert hall to greet him. He sat with the captain saying nothing and appearing bored. After half an hour he quietly arose and went to his cabin.

Weather continues splendid, and there is but slight roll to the ship. An iceberg was sighted this afternoon.

(By the Associated Press)

After one of them had shot him with a revolver, two of the chums stuck court plaster over the wound and took him home, telling his mother another boy had hit him with a brick. The injured boy was unable to talk and it was not until yesterday that the nature of the wound was learned and the bullet located by an X-Ray.

FAMED LECTURER IN PROGRAM HERE

Will Irvin to Appear Under Auspices of Legion and College.

Will Irvin, "ace of correspondents," will appear at the McSwain Theatre Thursday evening, November 23, under the auspices of the American Legion and East Central college, according to an announcement made today.

Irvin is probably one of the best known writers in America today, winning much fame through his stirring articles during the world war. He has spent practically all of his life in journalistic work and speaking tours.

Irvin began as a "cub" in San Francisco, and worked up to the highest place on the editorial staff of the San Francisco Chronicle. He later went to New York where he made a success of his newspaper work, and was finally made editor of McClure's. One of the first newspaper correspondents on the field in the world war, he was the first English speaking prisoner of war, and wrote many interesting articles of the early days of the struggle.

He will speak on "The Next War," and "Tainted Truth" when he appears here. These subjects have been received with gratification in former addresses by the famous writer.

Sultan Flees for His Own

(By the Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17.—Much criticism is appearing in Turkish newspapers regarding alleged propaganda in the United States against Turkey.

EAGLES AND EAST CENTRAL TANGLE

Heavy Rains Not to Check
Grid Warriors in Game
Here Today.

Eagles and Tigers were not to be out done by the weather today and despite the rain which soaked the field and the raw wind which made playing difficult, the two football teams began battling at three o'clock this afternoon on College field.

Two-inch cleaths were worn on the shoes by players and although the heavy wind slowed up playing, made scoring difficult and prevented snappy plays, the game was expected to be an interesting one. Attendance was at the lowest mark of the season, due to the weather.

Coach Thompson said his men were in splendid condition for the game. With Meaders and Lee ends, Kapps, Kerr brothers, Smith brothers, Brown, Cassidy, Gatlin and Johnson for the line, McCoy and Montgomery for quarter, Johnson, Thomas, Kelley, Reed for half backs and Cunniff for full back, the coach was confident of winning.

Eagles have experienced players and are in the best condition of a season. They have been winning consistently this season and have improved steadily. Dope is slightly in favor of the Eagle squad.

It was not known at press time whether the game could progress to an end, but both teams expressed determination to play despite the mud when the play was started. The field was being marked off at two o'clock today.

Man Jailed After Still Explosion; Three Are Killed

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Joseph Verdoni was under police guard in a hospital today and may be charged with manslaughter, as a result of an explosion which killed his wife and a baby daughter and a neighbor's son and injured at least nine others including himself, last night. The police today attributed the explosion to gas accumulated in connection with two alleged moonshine stills in the basement under Verdoni's store. A story that a bomb had wrecked the building, causing a fire, was abandoned by the police who said the walls of the building were blown outward.

Besides the wreckage of the stills the police found a 50 gallon drum of alcohol.

ITALIAN SENATE RECEIVES ORDERS OF NEW PREMIER

Mussolini Assumes Role of Absolute Dictator in Italian Affairs.

COMMANDS OBEYED

Premier Makes His First Appearance Before the Italian Chamber.

(By the Associated Press)

ROME, Nov. 17.—Premier Mussolini's first appearance before the Italian chamber proved a great personal success. He spoke to the deputies as he had addressed the leaders of the fascist legions and his orders were received with a similar apparent obedience.

He announced his plans for an international policy and warned his adversaries that the fascist government had come to stay. He did not ask but demanded a vote of confidence in his government, declaring that if the deputies refused, their mandates would be withdrawn.

His bitter enemies were disappointed, and his friends are saying that he is the greatest leader Italy has seen since Christ, and that the fascist rule will endure.

Congratulations were showered upon him after he had concluded his exposition of the government's program, all the parliamentary groups joining in with the exception of the extremists, who abstained from displaying any emotion. In the lobbies afterward the expression was heard many times repeated that in Mussolini, Italy has found the leader for which she has been looking for many years.

At today's meeting of the chamber the minister of the treasury, Prof. Tangorra, will explain the details of the government's plan and other leaders of the Mussolini administration will speak for their departments.

Premier Mussolini has expressed the desire, however, that only one orator from each of the 11 groups in the Chamber be allowed to speak before a vote of confidence is taken.

Rhode Island Boasts of Only Ferry Boat Engineer in Country

(By the Associated Press)

PRUDENCE ISLAND, R. I. Nov. 17.—This island today boasts the only young woman licensed ferry engineer in New England, and possibly in the country. She is Miss Rebecca Chase, of twenty-seven summers, and she rises early every morning to take her place at the throttle of the ferryboat Harvest, connecting the island with Bristol.

That she is at home on the sea is demonstrated by her license, which grants her the right to navigate a power boat. Frequently she directs from the pilot house, handling the Harvest with the skill of the ablest skipper.

Shortly after America entered the World War her grandfather, owner of the ferry, unable to obtain an engineer, called upon Miss Chase, who was an experienced automobile driver. She succeeded in passing the necessary examinations.

Miss Chase keeps her domain below decks spick and span. She believes in being a good housekeeper on shipboard as well as at home.

ELECTION RIDDLES.

Under the above heading Luther Harrison sums up the results of the recent election in the Holdenville Democrat. As he sees it there is food for thought in the fact that although John Fields ran 30,000 ahead of the Republican ticket he lost by 50,000. Although Walton ran about 30,000 behind most of the Democratic ticket, he is the winner. In various parts of the state one party would roll up a heavy majority for most offices and lose others. For example Johnston county gave Walton a majority of 2,500 but elected Republicans to the offices of sheriff and county attorney. The reverse happened in strong Republican counties. Mr. Harrison sums up the situation thus:

"It was an election of riddles, an election of surprises. As near as it can be figured, at least twenty-five percent of the Democrats in the state scratched their ticket. The Republican ticket was scratched by many thousands of Republicans.

"The men who from statehood have been framing tickets and selecting party candidates can study with much profit the election returns of last week. If they will only study those figures honestly, they can learn many things of interest to themselves.

"In the first place they will find that fully twenty-five percent of Oklahoma Democrats will not vote a straight ticket unless it suits them to do so. They will learn in the second place that at least 100,000 Oklahoma voters have no party, acknowledge no party allegiance, and vote just as fancy leads them on election day. These 100,000 hold the balance of power in Oklahoma and determine the final result. They elected Harrel in 1920; they elected Walton in 1922.

"In Oklahoma party ties are no longer the sacred things they were once considered. The ticket that hopes to win in the future must be composed of clean and competent candidates advocating a real program of government. The political organization that ignores these facts is simply inviting disaster."

Citizens sometimes grow tired of being solicited one day after another for various causes, most of them worthy ones. The average man is inclined to be liberal where it is a matter of relieving human suffering, but sometimes it taxes his resources to the limit to meet the various calls which he is expected to help. As we see it the best method is to decide at the beginning of the year just how much can be allotted to public causes and perhaps select the ones in advance that will be supported. In this connection the average man will put the Red Cross among the first for its work is so well known that there can be no question about the money being spent where it will do the most good.

The annual "turkey trot" was pulled off at Curoo, Texas, a few days ago. Eight thousand birds were in the parade through the city, headed for the market. Pontotoc county can't match that yet, but at the present rate the turkey business will within a few years assume proportions of importance. This year a large number were raised in the county and more would have been raised had it been possible to supply the demand for eggs. The price is fairly good again this year, being the equal to war-time figures, and if the present rate is kept up turkeys will bring thousands of dollars to this county.

Something new under the sun, or at least in modern politics. A woman has been elected to a supreme court judgeship. It happens to be Ohio this time that sets a new precedent. Within the next four or five years we may expect to see one elected governor of some state, and then the presidency will be the only remaining post to be sought.

A wooden ship built during the war and recently sold for the sum of $1,600, was damaged by fire some days ago. Although it is thought that the machinery, the most valuable part of the vessel, was not much injured, the loss is placed at $25,000 by the owners. To figure a loss of $25,000 on a $1,600 ship is some mathematics. It makes a difference who the property belongs to.

The Conservative party won a big victory in the British elections. The people wanted a change just as they did in the United States, but were a trifle slow in getting it. Now that they have it will they rue their bargain in two years, as they did in the United States, and call Lloyd-George and the Liberals back to run things?

Lady Astor has been re-elected to the British parliament and another lady has also been successful, thereby doubling the voting strength of the women in parliament. On the other hand there will be no woman in the next American congress, all candidates of the fair sex having been defeated.

Greatest Mother Summons Her Children

An allegorical concept of the Red Cross as a peace-time ideal is employed by the American Red Cross in a new and striking poster for its Annual Red Cross Roll Call. Spread out before the heroic size figure is the outline of the United States with a Red Cross superimposed upon it while around its borders are sketched scenes depicting the chief activities of the Red Cross today—service to disabled veterans of the World War, disaster relief and promotion of the public health. The poster is the work of Lawrence Wilbur, a New York artist and will be displayed throughout the country during the enrollment of the Red Cross membership for 1923.

The Forum of the Press

Seniority Senility
If there is extant in congress the slightest element of that quality which made Elizabeth one of the greatest and most successful of England's rulers, there will be little hesitancy in abolishing once for all the senile rule of seniority.

As a matter of both fact and logic there is nothing in this rule to condemn it. Under such a rule, if an African gorilla could get himself elected to congress and could manage to stay there long enough, he would inherit the most important committee assignment in the national legislature, while men of acknowledged ability and unsurpassable talents for constructive service would scatter themselves idly over the benches.

The seniority rule is a relic of the old political feudal dynasty which caused the old guard to draw together for protection. At no time in its history has it served the nation half as well as its breach would have done. It took Penrose into senate leadership when he was as badly out of tune with public opinion as ever an African gorilla would have been. Time after time it has been used to check, if not defeat clearly expressed public opinion.

The result is that the senate has fallen completely under the sway of a coterie of aged gentlemen skilled in the art of legislation as they desired and equally skilled in the art of preventing legislation which they disapproved; gentlemen as sonorous out of harmony with the times in which they now live as a hab-boy in a strangled orchestra.

The seniority rule bred the farmer bloc in the senate. There is no question at all concerning that. And it has bred every other destructive revolt in the national legislature. We say it is high time that rule was abolished and men chosen for leadership upon their merits and their standing, even though such a rule should place some political parvenue upon the silk cushions of the venerable and mighty.

Congress must begin to pay some attention to the expressed will of the people instead of setting its awkward bulk directly in the path of popular opinion, everlastingly and eternally.

Vindication
(Lawton Constitution)
One Year ago this Armistice Day, the country was thrilled by the wonderful ovation given Woodrow Wilson, as the former president, marched in line with those who paid tribute to America's unknown dead. Then the memory of the bitter campaign of malice and misrepresentation was still alive and burning disappointment in the heart of America's great war president. No doubt the magnificent acclaim with which he was received was balm to him.
But on this Armistice Day, Woodrow Wilson has the added pleasure of seeing his own vindication. In the recent election the country turned from those who villified and maligned him in 1920. The people have forsaken the false prophets of the republican party and recognize once more that Woodrow Wilson and the democratic party was the friend of the people. The pendulum swings the other way. It is not improbable that Woodrow Wilson may have a voice in naming the next president of the United States.

I was troubled with heartburn and dizziness, and at times there was a pressure of gas around my heart that almost cut off my breath. "Since taking Tanlac my digestion is fine. My appetite is a wonder and I eat just anything I want. In fact, my stomach acts and feels just like a new one and my nerves are as steady as a die. CITY IS DESTROYED AS FILMING ENDS

Egyptian landscapes, immense buildings, walls, ramparts and palaces, sprang up like mushrooms and like mushrooms, were torn up and chopped up when they had served Earnest Lubitsch in his filming of "The Lives of Pharaoh". The cost ranged well up in the thousands.

This most elaborate Paramount picture by the creator of "Passion" and "Deception" is a romance of a pretty serving maid and the cruel King of ancient Egypt. It will be shown at the McSwain theatre today.

During the ten months spent in filming this massive spectacle in which more than 100,000 persons appear, Earnest Lubitsch was almost as powerful a monarch as Pharaoh himself. He was the ruler of this mimic Egyptian glory, of all these supers camped on the sand and the field marshal of the greatest battle ever seen on the screen. Emil Jannings, Dagny Servaes, and Harry Liedtke are the featured players in this tremendous production.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

The shame of a blemished face!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more self-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clean, pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again

Consider This When You Consider New Clothes

YOU don't buy a suit for temporary use; you have a right to expect that it will give you months of good service. But your expectations will not be realized unless the quality is there. And it will not be there if the price is too low.

Clothcraft Serges

are by no means high priced—the prices are well within the limit of the most thrifty buyer. But the prices have a very definite relationship to value—sound, unvarying value, based on all-wool fabrics, elegant tailoring, perfect and lasting fit, long wear. You can't safely pay less and practice real clothes economy.

Farmers' Column

The First National bank of Roff, which sometime ago sold 19 registered gilts to boys of the community, has since sold 18 more, making a total of 37 head. These,
with the ones sold by the F. & M.
National of that city, will total 50 or more registered gilts for that part of the county. With a part of this kind the community around Roff will become the pure bred hog center of the county. This fall it is planned to pull off a hog show there and with the start the boys now have it will be one worth seeing.

Now that hog killing is at hand we are all interested in the best methods of handling the meat.
There is more difference in putting up sausage than perhaps any other pork product and often I have found some that was very palatable.
Here is a recipe which I know is all right because we followed it when we were on the farm three years ago and the demand we had for all we could make proved that others liked it, too. However, I know that others have good recipes and it would be a favor to all concerned if they were sent to us for publication. Here is the one mentioned above:

Everybody likes pork sausage.
Take three times as much lean as fat, and cut into strips of a size that can conveniently be run through a meat chopper. Remove the bones and gristly parts. Never put any water about the meat and do not let it freeze before grinding. The proper amount of seasoning will vary with the taste of individuals, but it will not be far wrong to use for every hundred pounds of meat, two pounds of salt, four or five ounces of black pepper, a tablespoonful of cayenne or pulverized red pepper and three or four ounces of sage. The seasoning will be more evenly distributed if mixed with the meat before it is ground, but it may be worked into the ground sausage with the hands. Since the strength of sage and pepper vary greatly, it will be well to try a trial cake and add more of such seasoning as may be needed.

For immediate use, the sausage may be kept in stone jars or crock, but if packed in muslin bags which are later dipped in melted paraffin and hung up, it will keep as well as when stuffed in casings. An old-time method, which is still good, is to tie up rolls of about two pounds each in shucks and hang in the smokehouse. To keep sausage throughout summer, fry till done, pack in jars and cover with melted lard.

Pork steak, spareribs and back-bones may be kept in melted lard in the same manner as sausage.
Never use the grease the meat was fried in for this purpose, since it contains some water and will become rancid.

Preparing Head Cheese.
While the head is commonly used in making head cheese, the feet and other scraps may also be utilized for the same purpose. Clean the head, cut out the eyes and ear drums, and boil it along with other scraps till the flesh separates readily from the bones. Remove all bits of bone and run the meat through a food chopper, season as you would sausage, or to suit the taste, and mold in crocks or pans.
It can be served cold, sliced, fried in grease, or sliced in vinegar.

How to Make Scrapple.
Scrapple is made by boiling the meat just as you would for head cheese. Strain the liquor it was boiled in to remove scraps of bone, add the chopped meat, stir in sufficient cornmeal to make a stiff much and boil for an hour. Season rather highly with salt, pepper and sage or with chile powder if the flavor is liked. Mold the scrapple in pans and crocks and when ready to use it, slice and fry quickly till brown.

In Memory.
In memory of little Juanita Mc-Coy, the joy and pride of family and friends.

Little Juanita was only 4 years old, but she was a well known and favorite little character in her neighborhood.

Her remarkable ability her cheerful disposition and her lovable manner endeared her to all who knew her and constantly won new friends.

Dear little girl, thou hast left us, but we know that in "the home beyond the skies" your sweet smile may some day greet each dear one now left with weeping eyes.

"There is no death; an angel from Heaven,
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread!
He bears our best loved things away,
And then we call them "dead."

"He leaves our hearts all desolate;
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers;
Transplanted into bliss they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

"The bird-like voice whose joyous tones Made glad this scene of sin and strife,
Sings now an everlasting song,
Amid the Tree of Life."

PREVENT FOREST FIRES TO HOLD FISHING FACILITIES

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Anglers, guides and sportsmen generally, who are interested in conservation of the country's inland game fish supply are warned by the Bureau of Fisheries to take especial pains to prevent forest fires, as these have been responsible for widespread destruction of fish.

Streams that once teemed with trout now have not a single fish as the result of a forest fire, bureau officials say. They believe their destruction resulted from the increased alkalinity of the water due to the leaching out of the ash left by the fire.

The Scarlet Woman
By MYRA C. LANE
(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

May Callender had come back from her city job and brought a babe of three months with her. The news was all over Hillside in the twinkling of an eye. She had given up stenography, it appeared, and gone back to her father's cottage to keep house for him. What did he think? What did Joe Norris think—Joe, now representing his firm on a business trip West; Joe, who was engaged to her?

"Why, it's this here way," explained old Callender, a mild, lean, elderly man, who suffered from rheumatism. "That ain't May's baby. She adopted it from the Home for Fresh Air for Kids for the summer, so's to give it a chance like, because it's kinder peaked."

"Oh, Mr. Callender, how can a man of the world like yourself be taken in by such nonsense?" demanded Mrs. Rhomb, the deacon's wife. "Can't you see for yourself? What would a girl like May be wanting with a baby, when she's going to be married to Joe when he comes back?"

"I guess there'll be one wedding put off," sneered Hy Pannick, the life insurance agent.

It was certainly scandalous. May should have put the infant in a home and hidden her shame in the city, all agreed, instead of polluting Hillside with her presence. Why, there were young folks in Hillside who knew May, and four churches.

And then, what made it worse than anything, May was so brazen. See her walk into Mr. Pannick's shop, as bold as brass, and ordering—yes, ordering groceries, instead of creeping in and paying her money over the counter humbly. And the child on her arm! That beat creation!

The Reverend Hotfoot stopped her in the street one day. "Ahem, Miss Callender—"

He slurped the word "Miss" as if it were a little irregular.

"Oh, Mr. Hotfoot! Yes, that's the kid I adopted for the summer. Pretty boy, isn't he?"

"Oh, Miss Callender, is it wise, is it right to appear in public carrying the child?" Mr. Hotfoot pleaded. "All things are lawful, but all things are not expedient—you understand? There are young people in Hillside—"

"This is the child I adopted, Mr. Hotfoot," said May Callender, emphasizing the "adopted."

"Oh, yes, to be sure," said Mr. Hotfoot, beating a retreat. He told his congregation after that she had flown at him like a wildcat.

But what would Joe Norris say—Joe, now on his homeward trip? Joe was pretty hot-tempered. It was the brazenness of the hussy, coming back with it!

And then—there was that hot summer night when it was taken so ill, and May was raging like a mad thing, Doctor Hollis said, for fear one of those convulsions would carry it off. Oh, yes, Hillside wasn't composed of fools.

Old Mr. Callender, under May's thumb, meekly submitted to her rule. Privately he believed what the world believed, but he didn't dare express himself, and May certainly was some housekeeper.

Katie Jackson, whom Joe had once gone with, was especially vindictive. She was at the head of the organization which ignored May in the street for the sake of decency, and Mr. Hotfoot's sermon that first Sunday after May's return was really Katie Jackson's working. Katie was the Reverend Hotfoot's niece.

But what would Joe say? Joe was in Chicago; he was in Detroit; he was in New York; he was expected on Monday evening—here he is at the station, six feet high, nearly as broad, sunburned, happy, carrying a grip with a practiced hand.

"Oh, Mr. Norris, it is sad news that I have to tell you," Mr. Hotfoot led Joe aside. "You must not take any impetuous action, my dear Mr. Norris. There are loving hearts in Hillside that will do their best to heal this wound."

Joe had at first burst out laughing, then he became bewildered, then angry.

May knew what train he was coming on, but it was too hot to leave Baby, and he needed constant attention. So she just sat beside his cot and waited for Joe.

Joe strode along at his five-mile gait, perplexed, wondering. Of course he didn't doubt. But—

"Say, May," he said as he kissed her, "what's all this infernal trouble about you in town? That old humbug Hotfoot was on my trail as soon as I made the depot. That the kid? Mighty fine kid, only—why, say, May, we can't afford to start our family so darned quick, can we?"

"It's only for the summer, Joe," answered May. "I've got to return him to the Home for Fresh Air for Kids in September."

"But what's the idea?"

"Why, Joe, darling, I—you know I wanted to find out whether I really had the grit to get married when it would mean keeping house and looking after a sick child at the same time—"

"You little brick!"

"And—and—it's hard, but—I guess it's all right, Joe."

It Varies.

A BIGGER AND BETTER WINTER SPORTS PROGRAM IS CANADA'S PROMISE FOR THE COMING WINTER

WINTER SPORTS CROWD ON DUFFERIN TERRACE, QUEBEC, AS SEEN FROM CHATEAU FRONTENAC.

TEAM OF HUDSON BAY HUSKIES AT THE DISPOSAL OF WINTER VISITORS TO QUEBEC.

Winter sports seasons are as important in Canada's yearly schedule as the summer resort and camping features. As Mr. C. E. E. Ussher, General Passenger Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, says: "The winter sports idea has now caught on. A certain amount of educational work has been necessary, but people have now learned to make a friend of winter instead of regarding it as a dead season, as was formerly the case." Now Mr. Ussher's work keeps him in touch with all points across Canada. His finger is on the pulse of traffic to watch its ebb and flow and he knows to a nicety just how much winter travel is induced by winter sports carnivals in various parts of Canada.

While detailed plans for the season of 1922-23 have not been formulated, Mr. Ussher promises that the plans will be more ambitious than those of preceding years, which news will be greeted with delight by the many Americans who spend a portion of each winter frolic on the white hills of the Northland.

As usual, Quebec City will lead, her unusual location on the hills overlooking the St. Lawrence River, provide natural slides for skiing, bob-sledding and tobogganing. Quebecers are winter sports lovers and almost every day during the white months witnesses staged jollifications.

Montreal bids fair to be a formidable rival of Quebec this season. Its business men declare that a well organized winter sports season will do for the winter tourist traffic what good motor roads do for summer travel. A well organized campaign is under way to make this the banner sports season in Montreal's history. At a recent meeting twenty-one speakers extolled the plan and urged the merits of such sports as skating, hockey and lacrosse in addition to tobogganing, skiing and bob-sledding.

Winnipeg makes a great event of winter and its great Bonspiel, that draws curlers from all over the world, takes a fortnight to play off. "Peggys" bring their big handed way of doing things into their winter carnival preparations and vast rinks, majestic ice palaces and longest slides in Canada, result. Calgary too, gets busy during the snowy season and builds a mammoth slide from the top of a huge exhibition building set in spacious grounds. Here the Bow and Elbow Rivers provide excellent skating.

Banff dons her carnival cloak with the first flurry of snow and keeps up a merry pace of fun and frolic until the last flake has melted away. Banff's unique winter sport is bathing in open-air, natural hot-water pools no matter what the mercury may register. CHRISTMAS SEALS CAMPAIGN STARTS

Oklahoma City Women's Clubs Sponsor Call for Finance.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 17. — (Special) — Sale of Christmas Seals in Oklahoma through which it is hoped to raise $60,000 for the fight against tuberculosis and other forms of disease has been given the complete support of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Oklahoma.

In a resolution passed at the last biennial meeting of the federation all affiliated clubs are urged to lend every assistance possible to the Oklahoma Public Health association in the sale of Seals and in continuing the campaign of preventing tuberculosis and other communicable diseases.

The educational work conducted by the association has been a very material factor in reducing the death rate from tuberculosis in the state," the resolution says, "and the Modern Health Crusade conducted by the association among the school children of the state directs its attention to child health by the formation of correct habits. Great value to the general public of our state is to be expected through the establishment of the itinerant chest clinics and the discovery of early cases of tuberculosis.

"Be it resolved that at this biennial meeting of the state federation of women's clubs of Oklahoma we endorse the work of the Oklahoma Public Health Association and its means of support, the Annual Christmas Seal Sale."

PAULS VALLEY IN LINE OF LOCALS

Team Ready for the Fray; Gregg Out of Game With Injury.

A sandy field at Pauls Valley today made it possible for the Ada high school and Pauls Valley to tangle in the last gridiron struggle of the season in which Ada will participate on a foreign field. Coach C. R. Cox left this morning with four cars of players.

With Gregg out at right end, the team has been forced to make new preparations for the offense this week. Baker being substituted in his place. The team was in good condition however, and were in high hopes of winning the game.

Their game last week was an easy victory from Henryetta and none of the players were injured. A scrimmage with the college this week resulted in Gregg's injury, which has put him out for the remainder of the season, but physically the other players are in good condition.

Pauls Valley has been playing good ball in recent games and showing up well against her opponents. It is the first time in several years that Ada and Pauls Valley have played.

Rayburn and Baker at ends, King and Nettles and Wright at tackles, Morris and Willoughby at guards, Molloy at center, Smith at quarter, Carr and Potts at half backs and Hargis at full back completed the line-up today. Several utility men were taken. On the first string Cox has but one man extra. Wright has been showing up well at any line position, furnishing relief for Molloy at center, who was injured earlier in the season, for Morris at guard and for King at tackle. He also has substituted for Nettles who is used in the back field part of the time in nearly every game. Nettles is now the only utility man for the back field.

Shrine Ring Facts

The Ada News will appropriate this column to the use of candidates for the Shrine Ring for their announcements or any information leading to their qualifications.

Attention Nobles!

Dr. Smith of Holdenville wishes to announce his candidacy for the ring to be given away at the Shriner's Ceremonial in Ada on Nov. 24.

Dr. Smith needs very little introduction as he is well known throughout the country as a very successful physician. He has never failed to either kill or cure. In politics he stands for anything, having the pleasure of living in a republican county, under a democratic administration, and supporting the Shawnee platform. At home he makes a good husband, only been married once, he is still clinging to his first wife, at home, as is. Has one child. Is riding that platform and when finished, will smash Jack Walton and Andy Gump to splinters. He Solicits Your Votes.

Allen, Okla., Nov. 15, 1922. Editor Evening News, Ada, Okla.

Dear Sir: Will you please publish for the information of some who may not be familiar with the facts, or perhaps misled, the following statement in regard to my candidacy for the ring to be awarded at the Ada ceremonial Nov. 24.

I was born at Spencer, W. Va., thirty-two years ago and resided near the town of my birth until past eighteen years old, going to work at that time in the oil fields of my home county, and have since been identified with the oil industry in one capacity or another, coming to Oklahoma in 1910, and am at present employed as a gauger for the Pontotoc Oil and Pipe Line Company in the Allen field.

I am a Protestant by birth and inclination, and while a member of no church, I lend my moral and financial support to all churches. I was made a Master Mason in Allen, Okla., last December, and was a member of the DeMolay class Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons at McAlester, April, 1922. I am opposed to prohibition, while a teetotaler myself, I believe that every man has a God-given right to eat and drink whatsoever he pleases. Am a hearty believer in Woman Suffrage, believing that the mother who rears a child should have a right to vote on questions concerning the welfare of the child she has reared. My record is as an open book, and information as to my character may be obtained from Moriah Lodge No. 37, A. F. & A. M., Spencer, W. Va., or from Allen Lodge No. 81, Allen, Okla.

Respectfully submitted, J. E. BUTCHER.

Allen Ring Candidate Announces Platform on Which He Expects To Win Ada Ceremonial

John E. Butcher, Allen's candidate for the Shrine Ring, this week announces the platform upon which he "irrevocably stands" and upon which he expects to be returned a winner at the ceremonial to be held in Ada Nov. 24, as Woodrow Wilson won on his fourteen points when confronted with a grave task in 1920.

The several planks are as follows: 1—I am in favor of the state highway department immediately marking all thoroughfares leading to Ada with a capital "A" on each fence post, telephone pole and pig-sty, that all Shriners and Novices may find their way to the Pontotoc county metropolis with the least trouble.

2—I favor the passage of a law requiring inspectors at all public and private distilleries, whose duty it shall be to see that no fly, bug, wet-ant or cock-roach may get into the product of said distilleries.

3—I favor a high protective tariff on all female boll-weevils and male cockroaches, that no more may enter our country and fasten themselves upon our social structure.

4—I am in favor of abolishing the nine-foot bed-sheet law and the amendment of the five-foot night-gown law.

5—I am in favor of the passage of a law prohibiting the under-inflation of ladies' silk hose.

7—I am in favor of placing practical oil men in charge of all positions of public trust, they having had experience in separating crude from B. S., will probably be enabled to distinguish that product in political and ring campaigns.

8—I am in favor of all anti-Ku Klux, as a distinguishing mark of their order, removing the hoods from their Ford hoopes.

9—I am in favor of capital punishment as applied to mothers-in-law and bolsheviks.

11—I favor barring all candidates from ring campaigns except those who have their right thumb minus from the first joint (I have).

12—I favor limiting the use of rolling-pins and frying-pans to the one purpose for which each is manufactured.

13—I favor a law requiring mufflers on all females who are addicted to snoring in their sleep, and also a more rigid enforcement of the Saturday night bath law.

14—I am heartily in favor of the candidacy of John E. Butcher for the RING.

Respectfully submitted, John E. etaoinsrdlumfwyy JOHN E. BUTCHER, W. A. DELANEY, Jr., Campaign manager, L. B. ADAMS, HARRY G. BYRD, Assistants.
